
FRAUD – IT IS ALL ABOUT THE MONEY – ISN'T IT?

Worried about employee fraud?

Given the increasing amount of financial crime being perpetrated by employees, it is easy to understand why you might – but is it always about the money?

In our latest specialist forensic accounting article, we look at the other motivations behind employee fraud and how organisations can deal with it.

In particular, we explore a recent case, involving a school's finances and a manager's attempt to deceive its leadership team for a range of reasons beyond financial gain.

Learn from our experts about:

- The increasing amount of employee fraud
- The key motivators that drive employees to commit fraud
- How to spot and prevent fraud from happening in your workplace

READ OUR LATEST ARTICLE HERE

If you would like to know more about our highly experienced forensic accountancy team and how they can support you and your organisation, please get in touch.